Stryker has been a dedicated supporter of NJIT and its students, currently employing over 150 NJIT alumni and maintaining a strong recruiting presence on campus. In the past five years, Stryker has hired 34 NJIT graduates, reinforcing its commitment to the university's talent. The company also actively supports STEM education, with a focus on robotics, at Shabazz High School in Newark and other New Jersey high schools. Furthermore, Stryker employees hold influential roles on NJIT's governing and advisory boards, including the Board of Trustees, the Newark College of Engineering Board of Visitors, and the Biomedical Engineering Industry Advisory Board. Through its alumni network, Stryker has established itself as a corporate leader, connecting NJIT with industry experts across New Jersey, Florida, and nationally.
